

Pyramid Semiconductor Announces Two New Strategic Distribution Partnerships: Area51 Electronics and Majestic12 Electronics

Sunnyvale, California — November 24th, 2025 — Pyramid Semiconductor Corp., a U.S.-based provider of high-reliability semiconductors sustaining mission-critical aerospace and defense systems, today announced the addition of Area51 Electronics and Majestic12 Electronics to its authorized North America distribution network.

These strategic partnerships strengthen Pyramid’s customer reach and support model in North America, enabling faster response to new business opportunities and improved access to Pyramid’s portfolio of SRAM, EEPROM, NOR Flash, Logic, 1750A processors, and other obsolescence-mitigation digital devices.

Through these partnerships, customers will gain:

- Faster quoting and order response times
- More localized customer engagement and field activities
- Expanded design-in support for sustainment and aftermarket programs
- Access to Pyramid’s growing new product introduction (NPI) portfolio

These agreements mark another milestone in Pyramid’s FY25–FY26 strategy to expand distribution, drive new design-ins, and grow bookings across key defense and aerospace programs.

Media Contacts:

Pyramid Semiconductor Corp. Erin Rolfe, Director, Sales & Marketing sales@pyramidsemiconductor.com 408-734-8200
Area51 Electronics Kevin Webb, Director of Sales kevin.webb@area51esg.com 949.333.5338
Majestic12 Electronics Rosalind Huang, Product Specialist Rosalind.huang@majestic12electronics 949.387.0051